

KRUG COLLECTION IN THE WORLD OF KRUG:

To the delight of Krug Lovers around the world, a very limited number of Krug Vintage bottles are kept in ideal conditions in the House's cellars. They are tasted and appraised as they wait to blossom into a second life. The Cellar Master might then decide that some Krug Vintages reveal a new personality and become Krug Collection. Krug Collection is a tribute to time sublimation: maturity exposes hidden facets, depth and new flavours, while gaining structure and complexity. Krug Collection is always a wonderful discovery, a deeper story of the Krug Vintage. Krug Collection 1995 is time's second revelation of Krug 1995.

KRUG COLLECTION 1995 IN ESSENCE:

- Krug Collection 1995 is the second life of Krug 1995, a serene, harmonious and exquisitely characterful Champagne. It received its cork in June 2020. A second group of bottles received their cork in June 2021, identifiable through their Krug iD.
- To express the character of this year, the composition includes plot's wines of Pinot Noir (48%), Chardonnay (35%) and Meunier (17%).
- Now, over 25 years later, Krug Collection 1995 has become an endlessly faceted Champagne, giving the sensation of infinite layers of elegance, finesse and intensity. It is a truly memorable experience.

KRUG COLLECTION 1995 IS UNIQUE:

- Krug Collection 1995 translates beautifully the serenity and complexity of the year 1995 now with intensity and depth.
- At the time of its creation, Remi Krug said that it reminded him the harmony and balance of Krug 1969 and Krug 1979 while being itself an original story
- The Krug Collection bottles are numbered and leave the House in descending order, thereby revealing how many of these precious Champagnes still remain. They are guaranteed by Krug with a certificate of authenticity signed by Olivier Krug, which can be provided upon request.

THE YEAR OF 1995:

- After four challenging harvests in terms of climate, the year 1995 was welcomed in Champagne. The season began with a mild winter that was rainy with two short periods of frost in January and March, followed by a warm and sunny spring with some April frosts. Nature gifted the ripening season with a long period of heat from the end of June to the harvest, resulting in fruit with great freshness, character and expression.

TASTING NOTES:

- Krug Collection 1995 reveals a lustrous pale gold colour.
- On the nose, aromas of cocoa, orange marmalade, and biscuits.
- On the palate, refreshingly contrasting notes of delightful pastry, madeleine with butter, and candied orange that give way to bitter orange, enhanced by a remarkably fresh finish on vibrant citrus and very subtle lemon.

FOOD & WINE PAIRING INSPIRATION:

- Krug Collection 1995 reveals outstanding grace and is an elegant match for classic recipes such as delicate fish with a lemon cream sauce, slightly fatty oysters, sea bream tartar, or a truffle omelette. This Champagne will also deliciously accompany desserts such as a citrus upside-down tart or an orange crepe Suzette.
