THE YEAR OF 1989:

A hot, sunny and dry year with some light frosts and alternating periods of mild and cool weather in the spring led to the vineyards ripening early and resulted in beautiful maturity and full, long, opulent and silky wines.

KRUG COLLECTION 1989 IN ESSENCE:

Krug 1989 is the result of this contrasting year ending with a very warm summer which gave mature, expressive, long lasting, complete and silky wines. To express the character of this year, the House blended from 25 growths, well-structured and persistent Pinot Noirs (47%), rich Chardonnays (29%) and sparkling fresh Meunier (24%).

Now, over 22 years later, Krug Collection 1989 sparks new sensations that develop under time's magical influence, expressing an outstanding new facet of this Champagne.
